Responsibilities

Policeman's Helmet Weed Smackdown

The Weed Smackdown surveys include EDRR weeds, and is largely focused on Policeman's helmet, an annual in the impatiens family related to jewel weed, that grows and spreads aggressively along riparian areas in the Salmon and upper Sandy Rivers. Several years of treatment in partnership with the Sandy Basin Vegetation Revegetation Coalition, and in particular with Clackamas Soil and Water Conservation District (CSWCD), have significantly reduced the abundance of the weed, however treated sites require ongoing maintenance.

Project Coordination

Communicate with CSWCD staff regarding work flow, identifying priority work areas and protocols. Call property owners prior to site visits and track communications in Fulcrum (the data collection app used for the project). Communicate with contractors regarding treatment details such as specific site information.

Invasive Species Surveys and Treatment

Survey private properties with granted permission for 12 Early Detection Rapid Response (EDRR) invasive species as identified by CSWCD. Collect field data using GPS-enabled Fulcrum mobile app (all technology and training will be provided). Remove small patches of invasive species.

Landowner Outreach

Call property owners to notify them of imminent surveys and/or treatments. Canvass door-to-door and table at events like the Sandy Market (Friday evenings) or Sandy Ridge to further educate and recruit property owner participation in the Clackamas Weedwise program.

Beaver Creek and Other Outreach

The temporary Stewardship Coordinator will assist with monthly Beaver Creek Conservation Partnership meetings. Coordinate tabling events and outreach as needed with partners at Multnomah County. Attend tabling events at MHCC Saturday market. Canvass neighbors near culvert project area on Cochran Rd. to inform them of upcoming culvert construction. Support May Delta EcoBlitz and tabling at June MHCC Strawberry Short Course.
